Automated Testing

NMQA have extensive experience within the provision of automation testing services. NMQA have recently excelled in assessing, executing and training customers within the automation arena. NMQA promote and recommend the most cost effective solutions to our clients' unique automation challenges.

Our automation testing services are available through the Testing Centre of Excellence, our Professional Services Team and as an on demand service.

We can create automation regression test packs from existing test packs or from scratch for entire sites or applications.